SOVIET GOVERNMENT SYSTEM STILL SPREADING IN GERMANY

MILITARIST REBEL LEADERS IN FLIGHT FROM BERLIN

The constitutional national assembly has been summoned to meet in Berlin on Monday.

Berlin, March 18.—Rumors are current here that General Baron von Luttwitz, former commander of the revolutionary troops in Berlin, has been shot or has committed suicide.

General von Luttwitz Kapp, the self-proclaimed Chancellor, and Colonel Bauer are all reported to have fled from Berlin by airplane following the collapse of the revolutionary regime.

An anti-semitic movement broke out here today. A number of Jews were stoned in the streets by crowds and beaten.

It is reported the Communist leaders have split among themselves, lowering the Spartacist message. However, local Soviet councils already have been established in a number of suburbs.

It is expected the government, headed by President Friedrich Ebert, will not return from Stuttgart until Saturday, on account of the danger from Communist sources.

President Ebert is said to be planning to return to Berlin.

On Saturday afternoon Paris heard reports that a monarchy had been proclaimed in Berlin.

On Sunday, Paris newspaper printed a report from Zurich that Prince Eitel Friedrich, second son of the ex-Kaiser, had been chosen by the German monarchists for their next "emperor."

On Monday Berlin reported that the Kaiser had been chosen by the German monarchists for their next "emperor."

On Tuesday night Berlin advised reported that from 400 to 500 persons had been killed at Kiel when a German war ship bombarded the city.

ing a new cabinet with Eugene Schuler as chancellor and General Von Seeck replacing Gustav Noske as minister of defense.

The provisional decision to drop Noske was said to have arisen from the hostility of the independent socialists. The Communists and independent socialists have united in demanding a Soviet republic.

Kapp is reported to have quarreled with the efforts to extend their gains since his departure, and now claim to have about 7,000 followers under arms. Many of these men are said to be experienced shock soldiers who saw service in the great war.

One rumor was current that the Spartacists might make an attack on the government troops.

Germany Sent Out Many Peace Reports

London, March 18.—Now that the outside world has an opportunity to observe with reasonable clearness the developments that attended the abortive revolutionary government in Berlin, one outstanding feature is seen to have been the number of confirmed and unfounded reports that poured out of Germany and the other European news centers.

This was not unduly remarkable, however, in view of the excited frame of public mind in Central Europe over the possibilities involved in the German situation. Some of the reports, which later proved untrue or which have not yet been officially confirmed, follow.

IMPERATOR PERPETUATES MISTAKE

Mysterious Warnings Had Been Sent to Passengers at New York

said: "I received a mysterious warning from Washington that it would be dangerous to sail on the Emperor, but I determined to pay no attention to it and sailed anyway."

"The sailors were flooded after the ship sailed. My own cabin had a foot and a half of water, but I continued to occupy it. I had to crawl to my bed over trunks that were floating around over the floor, but I wasn't alarmed. The officers had assured us there was no real danger."

Arthur Hammerstein, theatrical producer, said: "We were in grave danger, but did not realize it until we reached Southampton. I noticed throughout the voyage that the ship had a slight list, but I thought this might be caused by the steering gear being out of order, because we took a winding course. There was no real trouble, however, until Saturday evening. When during a concert in the saloon, the ship caught sharply, throwing the people from their chairs."

Hammerstein warned, too. "It was warned in New York not to sail on the Emperor, but I disregarded the warning."

"My forty-eight hours we couldn't walk on deck. On Tuesday, as we were approaching Cherbourg, two destroyers came up, but we understood they were not hostile, but apparently no help for help had been sent out, because no help came."

Mr. Baron H. Comess of Cambridge said her husband swore at her in both French and English, was tendered by day at East Cambridge in her application for a divorce from Frank T. Comess. Comess said he never used any but mild epithets. The couple were married in 1914.

FINANCES NOT HIT BY REVOLT, SAYS HOUSTON

Washington, March 18.—No serious financial disturbances will arise from the German revolution, Secretary of the Treasury Houston predicted this afternoon. He said aid to the revolution would not be permanently affected by the revolt.

The Emperor was scheduled to sail for New York on the 17th, but those who had bookings were notified by telegram that the sailing had been postponed, but no explanation was given.

At the Cunard office in London a statement was obtainable today.

Launch Marine Statue Drive on Monday

The campaign to raise $250,000 for the statue commemorating the New French victory of the Marston in 1914, to be called "America's Gift to France," opens Monday. The project has official sanction of civil and military leaders of both countries. This will serve in a measure as a return gift for the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, which the French people gave to this country in 1915. The statue will be set up in the site of the grand battery.

In launching the plan, General Pershing said: "I should be very pleased to derive on the committee the support of all the people of this country. The plan appeals to me as a splendid one."

TAX LAWS MAY BE PUT OFF

Revision During Present Session of Congress Not Considered Probable

By International News Service. Washington, March 18.—Revision of taxes during the present session of Congress is doubtful. Although Secretary Houston has declared that wide revision is an immediate necessity to the prosperity of the country, it was apparent today that wide differences of opinion exist on this question. Conflicting elements on the question, apparently, will prove a barrier to rapid revision of the present tax law.

It is impossible for the committee to do all that is asked of it by the Secretary, at the present session of Congress, Representative Henry A. Kelley, Democrat, of Illinois, said.

"To make changes, alterations and corrections in the old law, and to enact the laws suggested would require many months. The present session of Congress would have to be extended indefinitely."

Other Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, however, feel that the laws can be changed and taxes adjusted very speedily.

HUB GIRL WINS $2,500 IN SUIT

Princess Radziwill's Sister Claimed London Graphic Printed Slanderous Story

London, March 18.—Miss Gladys Deacon, of Boston, sister of the Princess Radziwill, was awarded $2,500 damages in her suit against the Daily Graphic for its publication of her alleged friendship for the former Czar's Prince.

The newspaper entered a defense beyond the statement that it has never printed a story dealing with the marital troubles of Miss Deacon's sister and never heard from him.

Miss Deacon's lawyer said his client had met the Crown Prince before the war at Bournemouth, the home of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough. Afterwards she went to assist at Baku, but never communicated with the Crown Prince and never heard from him.

The Woman Who Refused to Fuss

"What is the world am I going to fuss for?" exclaimed Mrs. Morris. "I am a kind of chocolate blanc manne, and I remember her saying about his being her grand-dad. Why don't you ask her about it?"

"I'm going right in and show her my new dress," said Mrs. Morris. "I'll be back in five minutes."

"Do tell me about the delectable dress," Mrs. Morris called out to her sister-in-law who replied: "Why, that's a Fuddles. Don't you see it?"

"What is it?" And to be hard to make."

"Fuddles hard to make!" exclaimed Mrs. Morris. "No, indeed. All you have to do is add sugar and milk, either fresh or condensed, and boil for three minutes. When it has cooled, you have a firm, rich mold of perfectly delicious cream dainties."

"It's perfectly wonderful," exclaimed Mrs. Morris. "I'll be back in five minutes."

SCIENTIST BOLT IS SPREADING

Third Church of Hyde Park Joins in Revolt Against Trustees

The revolt against the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Company in Boston spread again today. The Third Church of Hyde Park, which joined the revolt, The First Church of Winthrop and the Second Church of Roxbury were already on record as unalterably opposed to the present board of trustees and its tactics.

The Third Church of Hyde Park, a day or two ago passed a resolution which in effect prohibits the members of the congregation from subscribing to the Christian Science publications so long as the present trustees are in power and place the congregation squarely behind the directors.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and youthful at once.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre of the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyntha Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, as you darken your hair, it does so naturally and evenly. It does not clog or stiffen the hair, it does not draw the hair out, it does not irritate the scalp, it does not dry the hair, it does not make the hair brittle, and you look years younger.

Wyntha Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not from a chemical preparation, it is a natural product of the earth.

PERSONS OBTAIN AN INJUNCTION AGAINST THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE STOUTER CHURCH

Persons obtained an injunction against the board of directors of the Stouter Church, until such time as those who may be trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society shall be in entire accord with and obedient to the manual of the Stouter Church, given to us by our revered leader, Mary Baker Eddy.

RAINCOATS'S MEN'S CLOTHING

It's in New York the other day and run across that big-headed scamp who always has his pockets full of money and plays up like a boss in western retail stores. He had a bunch of men's suits which looked to me as if he'd dragged them all the way from Honolulu, but I don't suppose he did, still you never can tell what the cuss'll do. These suits were all made by the best manufacturers in the country, but you also see some of the patterns and if you didn't bust laugh you might live thru it most of your life before the war (I don't mean the Civil war) before the wind and waste and junnysack scheme of making cloth was over that off good old fashioned wool which grew on sheep (most the wool used now grows on goats or hedgehogs or something or other 'scept sheep'), but this cloth was made from sheep's wool and just out of curiosity you wear see it most all sizes in the lot, all ready on the gasperacks—no, they're not on the gasperacks, they're on the Philadelphia table in the front part of the store.

Presenting The New Nemo

Diaphragm Reducing and Flat Front Corset

It marks a new era in corsetry! The lines of the fashionable Spring gowns are bouffant with straight lines front and back. They are youthful, graceful lines that older women will delight in. The new Nemo corset has a scientifically arranged bandlet that flattens the diaphragm and at the same time supports the abdominal organs.

It has a low top with rubber inserts—new extension stays run to the end of the corset, flatten and support the back.

How Are You "Bringing-Up" Your Children's Feet?

You Will Be Interested in Trot-Mocs

AFTER careful investigation we believe that Trot-Mocs are the best all-around, well-shaped, serviceable shoe that growing boys and girls can wear—and here is the "why" of our belief:

The soles are of Chrome leather, that means service and "all-leather"—no foreign substances to produce wear.

The uppers in 90% of the shoes are Indian tanned Moose. Gloves are made out of the same leather of lighter weight. They won't "scuff." You will appreciate the "feel" of the leather.

The inner sole is called the "Corker" and tests show that it will not absorb moisture, nor will it sweat-thru.

Every shoe has the Goodyear welt—the same welt that is used on the highest priced men's and women's shoes.

A shoe must be more than broad toed to be correct for children's feet. Trot-Mocs are, in addition, light, flexible and tough—they are made for growing feet. Best of all, the prices are not high.

Former Representative M. J. Coyle, manager of the Coleman Picture Theatre, Dorchester, voiced his protest of the censorship bill which is now before the Legislative Committee on Mercantile Affairs. cause of the great moral it teaches. The name of that picture is 'The Censor.'

CLAIMS BOARD PETITION. "I cite this particular instance for this purpose, not with any desire to impugn the motives of those who may have been actuated by the very best of reasons in writing the letter, but because I had a hearing upon the principles involved in the introduction of a bill of this character. In this letter I was taken to task by the writer, who refuses to sign his name, for presenting that picture to be shown in my theatre. In spite of the powerful endorsement it has had, 'I simply want to point out, when it comes to censoring pictures, that it is in any way.'

"I was also, while I was manager of a little picture house, I was met one morning by a committee representing the ladies and gentlemen constituting the various civic societies organized for the protection of the morals of the youth, and they asked me if I would permit them to have an exhibition in my theatre of pictures they must select. I said that I could be only too glad to co-operate with them in any way. I asked them finally what pictures they desired me to obtain, and they gave me a list, and at a great loss of time, but in order to satisfy these people, through co-operation with different exchanges, finally succeeded in obtaining a 'much heralded picture.'

"I brought them out to the theatre and one morning the operator threw it on the screen for them. After they looked at the picture they took a vote. There were twelve people. No two of them could agree as to whether that picture was fit for their children to see or not. They all represented different organizations and they were all at sea. That is one thing you would have to contend with if this so-called board was put into operation in this State.

"In my section there are perhaps as many women's clubs as in any section of Boston, and I have never received a complaint from any women's organization in Dorchester against any picture ever shown in our theatre, and the pictures shown in our theatre I personally see myself before they are exhibited there.

"I think it can be summed up so far as this bill is concerned, in the motto of the old Quaker: 'Such as are thy habitual thoughts, such also be the character of thy soul, for the soul is covered by the thoughts.' And I guess that ninety per cent. of the people who attend the moving pictures in this state today are perfectly satisfied with the pictures."

RAIN AND WARMER, THEN NEW COLD WAVE SUNDAY

More rain tonight! Tonight and Sunday! Bostonians may expect their share of the rainfall that today deluged parts of the West and South. Cincinnati registered 1.48 inches; Nashville, Tenn., 1.3 and Shreveport, La., 1.28. It will also be warmer, according to the Weather Bureau, the mercury ranging up degrees or higher tomorrow, and then falling Sunday in freezing or below.

It was seen at White River, Vt., 54 at New York, 52 at Northfield, Vt., and 50 at Boston and Nantucket.

Keeping Faith with The Men of New England

It's nearly thirty years now that the Kennedy name in connection with the retailing of men's wear has stood for better quality, better value and a squarer deal for the customer.

From a little "two by twice" store in Hyde Park, we have grown to be the largest retailers of Good Clothes in New England, perhaps in the United States, with eight great stores which we conduct as one.

The fundamental principle upon which this great business has been built can be briefly expressed as "giving all we can for the money, instead of getting all we can for our goods."

The past few war years, with their peculiar and unprecedented conditions, have offered many tempting opportunities for financial gain if we would but depart even slightly from our established policies.

But we kept the faith. With the prices of most necessities soaring ever higher, it has been our pleasure as well as our duty to our customers, to strive for even greater economies in operation, and to squeeze our already modest profits down to the narrowest margin ever known in the clothing business.

Public appreciation of our efforts along these lines has been reflected not alone in the increased volume of our business, but more clearly in the increased number of customers served—a much more significant barometer than figures preceded by a $.

Now comes another new season, and with it renewed opportunities to serve the public, and while we exceedingly regret to state that clothing is somewhat higher than last season, we can assure the men and boys of New England that we shall sell them whatever they may need to wear at nearer the actual cost to manufacture than any other store, anywhere.

In fact, we're going to beat our own previous record, in this respect, for with the constant increase in the volume of our business, the percentage of overhead expense is constantly growing smaller, and our margin of profit correspondingly narrower.

So you may come here this Spring, as always, confident of finding only the choicest of styles and qualities that the market affords; service that's prompt, intelligent and helpful; and prices that are considerably lower than you'll find anywhere else on goods of equal quality, and desirability.

Kuppenheimer Good Clothes

Range in Price this Spring from $40 up to $85

Other Suits at $30 up—Youths' Suits at $25—Top Coats, $20 to $60

Hats

Ever noted for the style and quality of our Hats, for the service rendered and for the exceptional values given, we're ready to maintain and add to our prestige this season. We carry the famous Stetson, the noted Mallory and our own Kennedy de Luxe, affording a price range of $5 to $10. On new Caps for spring the prices are $2, 2.50 and $3.

Furnishings

Public appreciation of the qualities and values always on tap in our Furnishings Dept. has shown a tremendous increase during the past year or so. Imitations, substitutes and "seconds" are never found here, but only perfect goods from the best-known makers. Manhattan Shirts, of which we are the largest distributors, indicate the class of merchandise we offer.

Shoes

Some men are a little reluctant to try Kennedy Shoes for the first time. They think the price too low to bring them the quality they want. As a matter of fact, it's not low quality, but small profit, that keeps our prices down. We're selling shoes this spring at from $7 to $15, that we'll match against anything elsewhere at $10 to $20.

Boys' Dept.

Replete with good clothes for boys of all ages. The famous Xtragood Suits range from $15.50 up to $30 this spring. Other makes start at $11.50. Juveniles are priced from $9.50 up. The newest styles in Caps are priced at $1.45 to $2.15. Bell Blouses at 95c and the best ribbed Hosiery at 45c to 65c are typical of the Furnishings values we give the boys of Boston.

CONFIRMS DEAN CASE 'JUGGLING'
Selectman Boynton Swears Cigarette Case Exhibits Were Changed

East Jaffrey, N. H., March 18.—Near Dillon's testimony relative to the "juggling" of the silver cigarette case in the Dean murder case is corroborated by Selectman Edward J. Boynton, who took oath to the following affidavit before Justice Conover, justice of the peace, on December 4, 1919:

"On the occasion of August 14, 1918, I was at the Dean place and was looking after the pumping out of the cistern to prevent any impurities from being found which was used to kill Dr. Dean. I never left the place from the time the pumping began until the water was all taken from the cistern.

"One of Sheriff Emerson's men went to the bottom of the cistern where we saw a small object which looked like a tin box, which he took out upon the ground near the edge of the cistern, where it lay, I would judge, about a half an hour before it was touched, when Sheriff Emerson picked up the box.

"It was a cigarette case with square edges. The case seemed to me to be made of nickel. Sheriff Emerson opened it and I saw loose tobacco and cigarette papers in the case. Some months later George J. Wellington showed me a cigarette case which I inferred was the one Emerson told him was taken from the cistern. I am positive that this cigarette case shown me by Wellington was the same case shown me by Attorney-General Young when I was on the stand at the Grand Jury hearing on the case at Kennebec.

"The cigarette case was also nickel plated, but had rounded edges and was not the case I saw taken from the cistern on the Dean farm. Attorney-General Young also showed me a cigarette case at the Grand Jury hearing made of German silver with slightly rounded edges—an old Ballou's I sniff box. I am also positive that that was not the case taken from the cistern in my presence. When I examined both cigarette cases offered me at the hearing for identification there was nothing in either case.

APRIL FOOLLY
with Marion Davies

A Paramount Arcraft Picture Story by CYNTHIA STOCKLEY Scenario by ADRIAN JOHNSON

April Fool, young, pretty and clever, was one of the literary successes of the day. Kerry Sarle was the head of the publishing house of Sarle & Co., whose magazines April's writings had helped toward fame.

April writes a story which she reads to Kerry Sarle—a story of romance and adventure which carries the reader from the dreary library of an English mansion to a costume ball in Greenwich Village and on, by ocean liner, to a dramatic moment in a hut in Cape Town, South Africa.

As the tale is spun by April, she borrows Kerry Sarle's name and character for her hero, a South African millionaire.

For the whimsical, daring adventures of the story she coolly names herself.

There are thrilling moments of threatened tragedy, where scandal (and even death) lurks in the wake of her ship of romance.

But for the seeming folly of April in the story the April of real life is weaving a romance with quite another view.

Kerry Sarle thought her a fine little pal. He took her charms for granted. He had never noticed that real love was just around the corner.

April's method of securing the final chapter for her delightful fiction romance is the beginning of a new story for April and Kerry.

TWO PITCHERS FOR BRAVES

Frank Miller of Pirates Is Purchased; J. Paul Jones Reconsidered

By NICK FLATLEY

Columbus, 19, March 19.—Some regular enthusiasm was shown today when the Braves, camp here, announced that they had purchased Frank Miller of the Pirates for $100,000. The purchase was made by J. Paul Jones, who had been purchased by the Braves and then sold to the Pirates.

Miller was a good hurler in the last season. He was 19 years old and had a record of 10 wins and 10 losses. He was a right-handed pitcher and had a good curve ball. He was a good fielder and a good base runner. He was a good all-around player.

TILLO HOPES TO WIN-BY K. O.

North End Battler Out to Show He Is Sullivan's Master at Commercial A. C.

Frank Tillo of the North End and Johnny Sullivan of South Boston, will meet in the main bout of tonight's card at the Commercial Club here.

Tillo, who has been training at Bedford, says he will prove to the fans that he can stop Sullivan and win the K. O. bout.

The encounter between Young Gould of Brockton and Sam Hall of the South End is creating almost as much interest as the main go. Both boys are hard punchers and the bout is sure to be a real slugfest.

Two six-round bouts, Young Gird for vs. Young White and Harry McAnister vs. Young Ocean, open the card.

COAST DEFENCE ATHLETIC MEET COMES THURSDAY

The coast defence athletic meet for March will be staged next Thursday at Fort Warren. Events will be held in jumping, wrestling, boxing and basketball. Since the army has taken such a decided interest in the coming Olympic games and intends to have contests of its own in order to select men who might win places on the American team, the games have a new aspect, and many of the boys in the local forts feel their chances for winning Antwerp are very good.

MANY STUDENTS OUT FOR B. C. TRACK TEAM

Outdoor track work is attracting the largest number of students in Boston College history. Coach Ryden daily sends a number of aspiring sprinters, hurdlers, weightmen and jumpers through their paces at University Heights. The fact that the center path on Alumni Field is ice-coated does not prevent the B. C. coach from putting the distance men over a course scientifically long to condition them.

Some of the other suburban league teams are now under way. Somerville High has over thirty candidates out every day in the gymnasium. Coach Lee McDonald of Cambridge Latin starts his first workout today. The other teams in the league, Brookline, Milton, Utinge, York and Everett, are to start their practice this week.

HARVARD CLUB AND B. A. A. IN TITLE GAME

The Harvard club and B. A. A. will play the final game of the Boston Amateur Hockey League tomorrow night at the Ice Pavilion. The contest gets the Pavillion row, a trophy emblematic of the league championship. The Crimson club's title has been defeated last year by the season, but Harvard is coming early in the winter at the hands of the Dartmouth Club. The B. A. A. club members have a most enviable record, having shown in their most recent games that they are as dangerous an aggregation as has played at the Cambridge indoor rink this season.

He took Lewis over in a matter of minutes and 15 seconds to get the first one. The next one came in 2 minutes, 4 seconds. Several times it looked as if Stanley would win, but the acceptance of Lewis enabled him to get out of many tight spots. Finally he applied his well-known headlock and Stanley's shoulders were forced to give. At the second he applied the same headlock and once again Lewis won in a matter of minutes. He is now a champion and is expected to win many more matches.

STUTZ AT ITS RECORD HIGH

Motors and Steels Are Leaders for Gains in a Big Market

Bank of Boston in its current New England letter, "has been the heavy demand for money for commercial purposes. The retarding influence of bank loans and corresponding decrease in reserves inevitably brought about much higher interest rates and pressure on the part of banks to restrict speculation in both securities and commodities. This action was necessary in order that maximum accommodation might be extended to maintain productive enterprises, especially those engaged in essential industries."

COPPER SELLERS HOLD FIRM TO QUOTATIONS
It is reported that leading copper-selling interests are holding firmly to 15 1/2 cents a pound for spot and second-quarter metal. They could have sold at 15 cents or eight months' metal at 15 1/2 cents had they been willing to make the concession. No new inquiry for copper from foreign consumers is reported and American correspondents have notified American producers of increasing demand.

MEETING CANADIAN COINS
To obtain metal values exceeding this purchasing power Americans are selling Canadian coins at a premium. A 1-cent coin is selling at 1 1/2 cents, a 2-cent at 2 1/2 cents, a 5-cent at 5 1/2 cents, a 10-cent at 10 1/2 cents, a 20-cent at 20 1/2 cents, a 50-cent at 50 1/2 cents, and a 1-dollar coin at 1 00 1/2 cents.

BANKER AT THE OPENING
At the opening there was a general feeling of optimism, but no real movement continuing. Motors and steels were the leaders, with copper, steel, and oil following closely. Railroads were participants, but not prominent. Copper sold higher and steel more active than on several days. Stocks moved up from fractions of a point on first sales and gains were steadily increased for half an hour. A brief period of profit-taking followed, but a consequent reaction at the end of an hour price were but a shade below their highest. Although evening has been on a large scale, it is a shade from Wall Street that the stock market is still strong.

LOOKS FOR THIS WEEK
Recent call decision, equipment ordering by railroads, lower metal rates and more cheerful weather have all helped to put people in a more hopeful mood. Buying by the public was sudden and on a scale that surprised the professional element. In contrast to an evidence that the speculative spirit is strong, the banking attitude toward the stock market is still cautious. The present call will have a good effect to do with the continuance of the buying.

MONEY NOT PLentiful
Commercial requirements for funds are not loosened and money conditions have not changed to any extent. Federal Reserve Bankers deemed it necessary to put the brake on speculation in securities. In brief, money is not as good as it was. The outstanding feature of the week seems to be the First National

SCOTCH DEATH SENTENCE

Society Must Not Destroy Life to Teach Lesson, Says Representative Stone

If society wants to teach the lesson of the sacredness of human life, it must not deliberately destroy life. Representative Stone of Boston, today declared in support of his bill to abolish the death chair.

The bill, now before the House with the commendation of a favorable report by the Legislative Committee on Judiciary, will probably be reached for debate and action on Monday.

"It is not the severity, but rather the certainty of the punishment that is most impressive," said Representative Stone. "It may be easy for a man to decide that he will take a human life, but it is not so easy for him to decide that he will take a human life when he knows that he will be hanged for it."

The bill, which would abolish the death chair, is a measure of justice to the man who has been sentenced to death. It is a measure of justice to the man who has been sentenced to death.

U. S. Hospital at Parker Hill Should Be Investigated

Enough has been alleged against the conditions existing at the United States Public Health Service Hospital at Parker Hill, Roxbury, to warrant an immediate and thorough investigation.

If 10 per cent. of the things charged against the management and the medical staff are true there not only should be a general housecleaning of the institution, but there also should be punishment for those found responsible for neglect, indifference, inefficiency and abuse.

No private inquiry will suffice. It is not enough for the executive officer to say that publicity will worry the parents of the inmates.

Conditions must be established that will be a positive assurance to the sick and disabled and their friends that the officials understand and appreciate their work and that the hospital is fully equipped with appliances, talent and disposition to give the unfortunate victims of the war the very best of treatment and care.

The charges against the hospital cannot be dismissed by the explanation of the management that they are made by men who are sick and peevish and, while in an abnormal condition, prone to exaggerate. It may be true that they are hard to please. But if there is cruel or abusive treatment that is no excuse. Neglect is not the solution of this problem.

Of course, these men are in an abnormal condition. But what caused it? That is the question that must be kept in mind. Many of them had never been sick a day before going to France to fight in the mud and mud of the trenches. Many of them were undisciplined specimens of manhood before explosives ripped and tore them.

Patience and forbearance are prime essentials of their treatment, and the doctor or the nurse who cannot practice these virtues is out of place in a hospital. These men put up with a great deal and it is their turn now to have theirs put up with a little fault-finding from them.

Every real American will insist that such boys as are at Parker Hill deserve and must have the very best hospital care.

Walsh Gives Senate Powerful Argument Against League

Senator Shields of Tennessee has introduced in the United States Senate a reservation concerning the proposed League of Nations in which the United States asserts its understanding that upon the principle of self-determination "GREAT BRITAIN WILL FORTHWITH RECOGNIZE THE EXISTENCE AND POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE OF THE REPUBLIC OF IRELAND AND AGREE THAT IT BECOMES A MEMBER OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS WITH EQUAL REPRESENTATION ACCORDED TO ALL OTHER SOVEREIGN AND INDEPENDENT GOVERNMENTS."

Similar reservations were made in favor of Egypt, Korea, Siam, India and other nations whose right of self-determination is now being denied by some of the members of the proposed League of Nations.

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts made a very strong speech in support of these resolutions. He pointed out one of the most serious vices in the proposed league. This vice is fundamental to the league and has not been and probably cannot be cured by any reservation. Senator Walsh saw its significance and dwelt upon it at great length.

The league does not provide any means by which a nation now oppressed by one of the members of the league can come before any tribunal and have its grievance heard. Senator Walsh challenged any member of the Senate supporting the league to deny his statement that there was no way by which Ireland, or Egypt or India or Korea or Siam could come before the league and get a hearing without the consent of the very nation which is oppressing them.

The Senator paused very impressively when he said: "I challenge any member to show me anything in the League of Nations as now formulated which permits any of the oppressed nations to have a hearing concerning their wrongs, and I challenge any Senator also to show me any provision in this proposed league which gives the oppressed people any practical assurance of justice even after a hearing is granted in the strange and improbable event that the oppressed nation should consent to a hearing concerning charges against itself."

No Senator undertook to answer Mr. Walsh's challenge. Indeed, they could not answer it, for Senator Walsh is right. The whole idea is the maintenance of the status quo. The whole structure from foundation to ridgepole is based upon the status quo, and Article 10 undertakes to maintain the present condition of the world with its injustice to little nations even by force of arms.

But reservations cannot cure this fault, because it is a structural weakness. To change it so that small nations now submerged might see the light would be to destroy the league. This league in its present form and in any form to which it may be altered by amendment or reservation will still be the deathknell of little nations now in bondage so far as the league has potency.

All the reservations will do is to make the United States a limited partner of the nations engaged in the oppression of weaker peoples. By these reservations we simply say that we will not join directly in the work of holding down by force people who are crying for liberty, but we will be their partners in every other respect.

It is like the attitude of the famous fencing master who was Quaker and did not believe in fighting. A young man having a grievance against another repaired to the Quaker one day and told him that he wanted aid to kill this other man. The Quaker said to him that he could not actually participate in the fight itself, but that he would train him in the use of the sword and would help him build up his strength and would go down to the scene of the fight to give him moral courage.

Senator Walsh has given the Senate a new and powerful reason for voting against the treaty with or without reservations, and the country is deeply indebted to the Senator from Massachusetts.

The Penalty of Disappointing

By S. E. KIBER

HIS father pinched pennies and worried and saved, Leaving life's sweetest pleasures unattended; When he might have been resting his father still saved, Afraid that a day might be wasted.

HIS father declined to be free from the grind That hardened his soul and his senses; When he wasn't at work he was trying to find Some way to be saving expenses.

HIS father, at last, having wealth that was vast Went the way that all people must travel; His grinding was done and his worries were past, So they planted him under the gravel.

HE inherited all that his father had gained, No money appeared or protested; The will was so clear that the lawyers were pained, There was nothing that might be contested.

THE wise people said, when his father was dead: "Now watch him tear loose and cut capers! It won't take him long to be losing his head And getting his name in the papers."

THE people who thought he would go to the deuce While his father's departure was recent Would accept no excuse when he failed to cut loose, And have damned him because he is decent.

THAT'S THE WAY IT GOES

I saw him coming with a smile, His steps were light, his cheeks aglow, And, smiling, he halted while I asked him what amused him so. "My landlord's gone from here," he said; "Run over by a passing truck!" He hurried on wordily— Some folks, it seems, have all the luck.

OUT ON the porch.
AT THE foot of the bed.
WHERE I sleep at night.
ON THE floor of the porch.
ON SOME sunny sacks.
SLEEPS A shepherd dog.
BY THE name of Shep.
AND EVERY night.
WHEN COVETES howl.
FROM THE neighboring hills.
SHEP ANSWERS back.
AND EVERY night.
I RISE, right up.
AND SPEAK to him.
AND HE comes around.
AND FEELS for me.
AND I pat his head.
AND SAY "Good Shep."
AND HE goes back.
TO HIS guany marks.
AND THE rest of the night.
HE LIES quite still.
AND LIES the sleep.
AND HE'S been away.
WHEN I'D been away.
SINCE, EARLY MORN.
WITH THE rancher man.
AND HE'D led me a chase.
THAT had played me out.
AND MY city feet.
CRIED OUT for rest.
I BRAVED the hushes.
OF THE ranch house folks.
AND LAY me down.
ON MY soft porch bed.
AND THE good dog Shep.
CAME UP from the barn.
AND SAW me there.
AND LAID him down.
ON HIS guany marks.
AND I guess he slept.
AND I know I did.

AND WHILE I slept.
THERE CAME to me.
SHEP'S LONG, shrill howl.
AND I awoke.
AND HE came around.
AND I patted his head.
AND SAID "Good Shep."
AND TOOK no note.
THAT IT was day.
AND WENT back to sleep.
AND AT dinner time.
I SPOKE of it.
AND OF the nights.
WHEN I'D awake.
AND SHEP would come.
AND I'D pat his head.
AND THE rancher says.
THAT WISE old Shep.
HAS BEEN kidding me.
AND NOT for a week.
HAS A howl come down.
FROM THE neighboring hills.
AND SHEP has howled.
JUST TO wake me up.
AND FEEL my hand.
AND WHAT if they did? Does it answer that their children should live where the sanitation is nearly a hundred years old simply because a few rapacious landlords want to become millionaires overnight?

With all due respect to those realities, I think it can be said that a large number of the forerunners of the objectors never saw those sections.
And what if they did? Does it answer that their children should live where the sanitation is nearly a hundred years old simply because a few rapacious landlords want to become millionaires overnight?
I have just read the letter signed "A Bondholder," in which he so nobly defends the protesting landlords. It is about time that someone came to the aid of the poor, defenseless men who are so busy raising the rents that they have not got time to defend themselves.
Mr. Bondholder, with great wisdom, suggests that all those objecting to the raising of rents move to the North—south and West ends, where their forefathers came from.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING IDEAS

By Brig. Gen. M. H. Barnum

IF a measure requiring universal training should be adopted by Congress despite the present setback, it will be in direct line with the precedent established at the time we entered the war, which proved to be the foundation of our success. Some will say yes, but that was a war measure and we reserve such measures for war only. Nevertheless, of the 4,000,000 men who went into the army and navy, in accordance with the draft law, it is believed that a very large majority will say that they have been greatly benefited by this period of service for their country.

If those who have had the experience feel this way about it, why should those who have not had the experience presume to stand in the way of such a measure.

This would be accomplished, first, by making the training such as to develop a better citizen, rather than a trained soldier; and second, by releasing the young men at the close of their training period from any obligation to render further military service in time of peace. The removal of this latter requirement would, it is believed, remove the objections of many to a form of training that was essentially non-military. Let us then make the measure one to provide the following fundamental features:

1. To inculcate in the minds of our young men that, as citizens, they owe some service to their country, and not that the country owes something to them.
2. To inculcate in their minds a respect for constituted authority.
3. To teach democracy by bringing all young men together on an equal footing for a period of six months.
4. To provide a physical examination for every young man, with special treatment or training for those requiring it.
5. To provide instruction in sanitation and physical development for all.
6. To provide education in elementary subjects for those requiring it.
7. To provide vocational training for those who desire to avail themselves of the opportunity.
8. To develop a sense of personal responsibility and a sense of duty.

Favorable Facts That Vainly Decision Much About Women And Their Foolish Husbands—By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1920.

A sister of the Czar, it is said, has been found in South Russia, hiding, living miserably in a box car. If she and her brother could have had the experience together a few years ago and had had enough imagination to realize through experience the misery of their people, he might be alive today and their nation happier.

The trouble is the privileged class are afraid of unfavorable facts. They fear them, will not face them or be told about them, and when the unfavorable facts face them it is too late. The poor privileged ones crumble up and are swept aside.

Facing disagreeable facts is good exercise. You can never tell when they will face you and insist on being noticed. The Czar's ghost could prove that.

Thanks to the Supreme Court, the process of taking profits without paying income tax is proceeding apace. The Crutcher Hotel announced a fifty per cent. distribution of stock dividends. For every hundred shares they give you fifty. The stock thus distributed is worth twelve and a half million to great prices. But it isn't income, just cash camouflaged.

A smaller concern in Connecticut, the "Shaker Works," announces a stock dividend of one hundred per cent. worth two and a half millions. That is not income either, according to close and valuable majority of the Supreme Court. You will hear from plenty of other corporations with stock dividends. Some will be gigantic, although corporation lawyers advise their employers to be "moderate" and avoid arousing criticism of the Supreme Court decision.

As for "criticism of the Supreme Court," that, fortunately, is a thing allowed by the Constitution, at least until the Supreme Court by another narrow margin shall decide that it is not allowed.

M. L. of Detroit wants a divorce. Like other foolish men, he suspects his wife of infidelity because she is not jealous. He was happy the first three years, says he, although his wife then was extremely jealous, which caused him mental suffering. That suffering stopped "with my wife's divorce." The husband now suffers another way. He misses the jealousy which he considers a good sign. Such is inconsistent man.

Any woman could tell the distressed husband that the wife caused being jealous, because she found music more interesting than her husband. It was a woman's favor. Give a woman something worth while to think about, a career, a chance to be something, and the husband takes his proper place in her mental catalog, along with other important things, she no longer worries him by thinking about him, or mope or by jealousy unfilled mind.

Again, after the professor episode had passed by, the husband worried because his wife developed "an antagonism" that, whatever it may be, caused the lady to say "women were the toys and playthings of men." They suffered more than men, and she hoped that when her girls grew to womanhood they would not suffer as she had suffered.

An ordinary husband is a dull thing, an ordinary housework over duller. Of him, the wife tells it spells absolute disillusion. Women do suffer more than men, and men would know it, if they saw their children born, instead of from the mother's body, and see how they grow up, and how they escape her sufferings and sleep positions. Don't imagine that women are literally happy because they don't complain.

When a man has a quiet wife that doesn't bother him, he pays little attention to her and wanders off. When he has a wife full of all kinds of annoyances, he is brilliant; novel suggestions he doesn't know enough to appreciate her. She scares him, he is frightened, visiting Spauldine is broken highly of the cave man husband type, which is the near-brute. There is something in that, that, for the first time, a cave man gets excited about his wife and other things, and has emotions.

What drives women to despair in their marriages? The husband that sits like a glass of skimmed milk, once in a while constricts his limbs on the fact that he provides for his family. The law would make him do that anyway.
